Applicants must have a recognized master's degree in Teaching English as a Second Language with relevant teaching experience and academic expertise. Current PhD students applying for this position must have achieved doctoral candidacy status at the time of application. Duties include teaching, holding regular office hours, marking assignments, reporting grades, working with the academic director on course-related matters, attending program and course related meetings, as well as follow-up appointments, where applicable.

Conditions of employment with the UBC-Rits Programs will require that all instructional and lab staff complete a workshop prior to the commencement of their term of employment, if not previously completed. This workshop was developed by the UBC Equity office. Details will be provided closer to start date of the appointment.

Updated CV and cover letter can be sent as a pdf or a word document to lled-posting.educ@ubc.ca. Please indicate in the subject area of the email, “LLED/RITS Sessional” and indicate the course(s) that you are interested in teaching.

Application deadline is Friday, May 29th, 2015

Due to the number of applications we receive, we are unable to confirm receipt of submissions over the phone or by mail, nor can we provide the status of applicants except to those who are selected for an interview.

UBC hires on the basis of merit and is committed to employment equity and diversity within its community. We especially welcome applications from members of visible minority groups, women, Aboriginal persons, persons with disabilities, persons of minority sexual orientations and gender identities, and others with the skills and knowledge to engage productively with diverse communities. We encourage all qualified persons to apply; however, Canadian citizens and permanent residents of Canada will be given priority.
